Happy New Year!

The Executive Board and I do hope that your holidays were a joyful, peaceful, relaxing time spent with family and friends. As we begin 2019 we also begin the second semester of the school year. This is the perfect time to review our teaching practices and perhaps try out some new ideas. This is a great time to check out all that LILT has to offer!

Consider attending one of our Professional Development Workshops presented by colleagues willing to share their successes in the classroom and help us become better at what we do. There are some exciting workshops available to choose from! Online registration for our workshops is now open on our website, WWW.LILTFL.ORG, where you will also find descriptions and details.

The LILT Poster Contest and Student World Language Competition give you the opportunity to showcase your talented students. Show them the recognition they deserve in their language classes! Visit the LILT website for information.

Once again we will be holding our annual Spring Membership Meeting at which time we will honor LILT members who will be retiring from the profession. It is always a fun event that gives us a chance to mingle with those that share our passion as well as a nice way to wind down the school year.

Did you know LILT offers stipends and grants? Consider applying for a stipend or grant to help defray the cost of a conference or assist in the implementation of a new idea in your classroom. LILT also recognizes the achievements of colleagues as well as our students. If you have someone in mind you would like to honor, nominate them for an award. The recipients will be invited to attend our Spring Dinner to receive their recognition. Engraved plaques are also available for purchase for both middle school and high students who excel in a World Language.
Do you know of an individual or association that promotes World Language studies on Long Island? LILT has a Friend of World Language Award granted to someone who goes above and beyond to further World Language education. Applications as well as information for all LILT offers can be found online on our website. Be sure to visit our website for a complete list of the many opportunities for our members. And don’t forget to renew and update your membership for the New Year.

Your support is greatly appreciated!

Enjoy the rest of the school year!

Message from the Editor

Happy New Year! Hopefully we have returned to school feeling rested and recharged after some holiday cheer and reflection. Many have committed to a change of habit, a resolution perhaps or just a promise to self to be a better you. As winter continues and the temps lower, the promise of longer days is just around the corner. One of my reflections was remembering the success of our November Conference and how I can continue to grow professionally from lessons learned from colleagues.

Sitting in the auditorium of Great Neck North High school, listening intently to Juan Carlos share his inspiring experiences, I was transported back to my junior high school ALM French class repeating in my head “Où est Silvie?... au lycée…” and the rest of the dialogue that followed. At the time it was considered cutting edge. I remember my first week of class getting a box set of 45s, records that we were entrusted with for the year, to use for homework and recitation practice. I couldn’t wait to get home and pull them fresh out of the box, unwrapping the plastic surrounding this maroon colored cardboard, popping them on the record player and listening over and over to that beautiful accent, mimicking the lines!
Admittedly I had no life. I couldn’t help wondering if my current students even knew what a 45rpm is. So, yes, technology has evolved, changing the way we live, the way we work and the way we learn. Access to language learning has become readily accessible at our fingertips. We may or may not possess the skill set or time to research all of them.

There are apps galore, Duolingo, Babbel, Mindsnacks, Rosetta Stone among them. Daniela Higueros, our Member at Large, has done some of the work for us! Check out Daniela’s article in this issue for some useful tips on some of the available apps that can easily be implemented in the language teacher’s repertoire.

In the spirit of becoming your better self, the LILT board would like to invite you to become more involved in our organization. Consider running for an office, submitting an article, leading a workshop and getting your students involved by participating in our Student World Language Competitions. Volunteer to be part of this wonderful, local, professional organization. LILT offers unique opportunities for professional development as well as opportunities for our members to celebrate our students’ achievements. Information regarding open offices as well as descriptions of what each entails are available on the website.

What’s App? Helpful Apps to Enhance World Language Learning

Within a world language classroom, there are various pieces of technology that help students learn their targeted language. By using technology and apps, there are numerous benefits for students of all ages. Most of the apps that supplement foreign language learning are designed specifically to make learning a new language simpler. The apps use varying techniques that engage the learner which helps keep the interest and makes learning the new language more successful. The concepts and objectives are built upon one another to allow for stronger language development. The apps that encourage foreign language learning through interactive lessons and developmental building for all ages are what will be focusing on in this review. The three best apps for foreign language development that can also be implemented into classrooms are Duolingo, Rosetta Stone Kids, and Learning by Mindsnacks.

Duolingo is a commonly used app for people that are needing to learn a new language and are struggling. By incorporating motivation through the use of “streaks,” this app is successful through the consistent use of its users (Duolingo, n.d.). This app can be implemented into classrooms that are teaching a foreign language as a supplemental activity that encourages reading, writing, and speaking the language. Duolingo offers programs in over 40 different languages (Duolingo, n.d.). For use in a classroom or throughout a school, there are school specific settings and accounts that can be utilized.

The Duolingo school programs offer additional views for the teacher to see the progress of each student as they move through their individual programs. Duolingo is one of the most promising apps that can be used within a school setting to help teach a world language.

Rosetta Stone is a commonly used program for many adults around the world. Recently, the company released a program that is created specifically for kids ages 3-6 years old called Rosetta Stone Kids (New Rosetta Stone Kids App, n.d.). This new app was designed for younger children and is developed similarly to the methods of learning within Common Core. Since the program is new, Spanish is the only language currently available. Although the languages are limited now, there is still an excellent platform established that will aid in younger students learning a foreign language. This particular app is excellent for use in classrooms because the design of the app’s programs aligns with methods of Common Core. With this app, teaching in a method that students are familiar with and in a fun and engaging manner, younger students have been very successful in mastering the foundational concepts of Spanish by using this app.

Learning by Mindsnacks is the next app that encourages learning through games. This app would be an excellent learning reward for students in a world language classroom. By providing students with interactive games that also reinforce the world language they are learning, there are amazing results.
Mindsnacks offers programs in nine different languages and will be adding a math component in the future (Mindsnacks, n.d.). Students that utilize the programs through Mindsnacks are able to successfully improve their world language skills through video games which is remarkably intriguing for all students. Students and teachers are able to track their progress through the various games within Mindsnacks which give both parties an accurate indication of the student’s ability and competence in that specific concept.

Duolingo, Rosetta Stone Kids, and Learning by Mindsnacks are all excellent apps that can be implemented in different ways into a foreign language classroom. Whether the apps are being utilized as a supplemental activity or reward system, there are tremendous benefits to students of all ages to utilize these programs to reinforce what is being taught in their classroom.
